

Message from Lizzie Tuesday May 28

Lizzie's Monday Blog has gone into Winter recess. I've had fun writing it, and one of the joys has been discovering the club members who share my sense of humour. I've appreciated that you've taken the time to comment or feedback to me because otherwise it can feel like chucking a bottle out to sea. And hugs for all those who took part in photo shots. (Engaging with the stars, cheerfully being tied to chairs, accepting being labelled pigs, dogs, monkeys etc). Troopers all! Very big thanks to Leslie who, recognizing the importance of linking my blog to the night before, has sent it out via Pianola first thing every Tuesday morning.

Lizzie

“The tooth has to come out anyway,
no reason why we can't have a little fun.”